Dear Supporter,

As many of you know, last year a separate organization launched a documentary entitled "The Abolitionists" that chronicled Operation Underground Railroad's first rescue operations and the story of our Founder and CEO Tim Ballard's mission to fight child trafficking. We are grateful to the group that funded and managed this project as it has created new awareness for both the cause and our organization. Recently this third party organization was dissolved and the movie assets were taken over by a new management group that is now responsible for the direction of the project. This party has requested that future screenings of the documentary cease until they determine how they would like to proceed forward. On behalf of O.U.R. I request that you refrain from organizing screenings of the documentary to be used for fundraising or other purposes until this matter is resolved. At that time, we will circle back regarding potential opportunities to leverage the film. If you are looking for video footage to help educate others on us and our mission, I would direct you to our official YouTube channel where you can find a number of clips that can be leveraged accordingly.

As always, we so appreciate your continued support!

Kind regards,

Jerry Gowen
